The Future of SIG Education

The AIS Special Interest Group on Education, SIGED, is dedicated to promoting excellence in information management/systems/technology education, research and practice.

The role of information and knowledge is changing in contemporary society, with different requirements regarding the use and development of IS/IT. Besides, it also influences how we educate IS/IT. The double challenge of education of IS and education with IS forms the core of the topics we discuss at the SIGED-organized conferences and tracks.

Encourage membership: to meet IS colleagues from around the world, explore the latest pedagogical innovations and ideas or exchange ideas for improving IS curricula.

It has been a pleasure!
